Meg Burton has an unusual job. She's a party planner. Our reporter, Jenny Lane, interviewed her.

Jenny: What do you do in your job, Meg?

Meg: I (1) (organise / report / show) everything related to parties like food, decoration and music. Many people don't have (2) (many / a lot / much) time to plan a party. So, I do it for them. In addition, I often book (3) (flew / flights / fly) to the guests who need to travel to another country.

Jenny: What types of parties do you plan?

Meg: Oh, all sorts of parties. People want a day to (4) (remember / learn / forget). They want to have a big wedding ceremony, for example, in a memorable place. Lots of couples want to get married in a Scottish castle. Most of them love nature. Trips in hot-air balloons are also very popular for (5) (bored / special / tired) occasions.

Jenny: (6) (What / Who / How) nice! Do you like your job?

Meg: I love it. It is so enjoyable and exciting. (7) (Besides / because / However), it is very hard and there are always problems.
